

Mark Borchelt

Mark Borchelt recently joined the dance faculty of Utah Valley University, following his tenure as Director of Dance at the Interlochen Arts Academy. During his fourteen year professional career Mr. Borchelt toured throughout the United States dancing principal roles in Ballet West, The Louisville Ballet and the Dallas Ballet. His repertoire includes the finest pieces in classical and contemporary choreography and he has worked with some of the foremost dance luminaries of the 20th Century. He has taught on faculty at the University of Utah from which he also holds a BS Degree in Psychology (Magna Cum Laude) and an MFA in Ballet. He has also taught on faculty at Southern Methodist University and the prestigious Cornish College of the Arts in Seattle. He has taught internationally and at many summer dance workshops. His choreography has been produced to high acclaim in both professional and academic venues around the country.